Mould hold it for God Almighty. Still, in either case, the appropriation must have physical marks and boundaries. If the theory of the defense were adopted, which the learned counsel stated must be done, the location was invalid and of no force. In support of these views the speaker read at considerable length from the case of Hess vs. Winder, the separation Big-fist gave Lilliput a parting side-winder, "just for the fun of the thing;" but he had no sconer done so than mediating Fairplay promptly knocked him down, and thus conquered a permanent peace. a permanent peace.

PETTY THIEVES NEARLY CAUGHT .-Early day before yesterday morning, about three o'clock, a man who lives in about three o'clock, a man who lives in the northern suburbs of the city heard suspicious sounds from his chicken-coop, and, hurrying out, revolver in hand, he saw two blanket-covered objects hurry-ing off amidst the choking squalks of purioned chickens. He fired two shots at them, but, only having on his night clothes, he did not pursue them far. He thinks the nilferers were white men. He thinks the pilferers were white men.

BULLIONVILLE CASTINGS .- Five thousand pounds of castings were moulded at the Railroad Foundry, Bolliouville, last Thursday. Among them was a spurwheel for the Raymond & Ely Compony, which is six feet in diameter, has a sixinch face, and weighs 1,400 pounds. The flask was poured with three lades, and it is as fine a casting as could be produced anywhere. The spur-wheel was made under Mr. Churchman's personal supervision.

from an Egyptian tomb by Professor TWENTY-SIXTH DAY OF TRIAL Henry Brugsch, one of the most noted Yesterday morning W. W. Bishop, Esq., commenced the argument for the defense. After a short and pithy introduction, referring to the controversy generally, the learned counsel said that the grantors of the Raymond & Ely ledge located a north and south ledge which was distinct and different from the ledge struck in the Lightner shaft, and which crossed each other. That was evidence of a ledge extending from the Panaca shaft to incline M; for, though ore was found there, it might have been from an overflow, or gathered up by the rifts in antiquaries of Europe and a director of the Vienna Exposition. It was found in an gyptian tomb, and is said by the Professor to be over 4,000 years old. It are very distinct—eyes, ears, nose mouth and long beard, the beard extend ing down to the centre of the chest. It is the most interesting relie we ever saw, without any exception. overflow, or gathered up by the rifts in the shale. The counsel maintained that the locators of the Panaca acquired no right apart from actual possession, unless the laws of the district were passed at the time of the location; that the loca-tion was not made in good faith; that it was done in accordance with the policy of the Mormon Church, the members of Tue Beres Festive-From a private letter from San Francisco, we learn that Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bates were greeted with large and enthusiastic audiences wherever they played after leaving Pioche. every fitting opportunity, to express grat-itude for the generous patronage received while here. Meadow Valley District, passed subsequent to the location, an abandonment was the legal inference; therefore, failing in that, the great law of actual appropriation must control. It was hard to tell to which class the location belonged. If it was made by American citizens, it would be governed by the laws of the United States; if made by the Mormons, it would be for Brigham Young, and he would hold it for God Almighty. Still, in either case, the appropriation must COMPLIMENTARY .- We acknowledge the receipt of complimentary tickets to the Odd Fellows' ball, to take place on Fri-day evening next, April 25, at Aleck Brown's new hall. of the Panaca as a fraud and a fiction, and that it always was a swinging title, sometimes here and sometimes there, RICH GOLD QUARTE.-We were vestersometimes here and sometimes there, upon which enough work had not been done to hold it, unless Vandemark's flying trips to New York, and Sherwood's journeys to Chicago, were called work. The counsel then lead from the Califorday furnished by assayer R. M. Cook the result of an assay of gold quartz, obtained somewhere north of Pioche, but it was mislaid. The piece assayed was enormously rich. We will try and get more particulars to-day.

The counsel then tead from the Cambria and Nevada Reports, in support of these views. Mr. Bishop then commented, with great severity, on some of the witnesses for the plaintiff, and ridicaled their testimony. He regarded the tracing on the surface as of very little investment, the other points of Main street is usually so crowded with men that it is quite impossible to pass along without stepping off the pavements into the road.
